Candle in a Cup

Visit a thrift store and explore the array of crystal ware and assorted teacups. These can be used to make unique candles, and the cup can be used again once the candle has burned out.

Coffee Mug Cozy

Down to only one of your favorite pairs of socks? If you need a gift for a tea, coffee, or hot chocolate lover, turn an old sock into a soft cozy for a thermos. This item doesn't require any sewing skills, but feel free to spice it up if you're especially crafty.

Scented Pinecones

Go on a stroll through nature and collect as many pinecones as would comfortably fit into a decorative bowl. Next, pick out your favorite essential oils and add several drops to a bag filled with the pinecones. Shake until the oils are evenly distributed, and you just made your own potpourri!

Homemade Dressings

Need a gift idea for a family foodie? Use upcycled bottles to hold homemade dressings or oils, then decorate to your heart's content.
