Candle in a Cup

Visit a thrift store and explore the array of crystal ware and assorted teacups. These can be used to make unique candles with your choice of wax, scent, and wick. Once the candle has burned out, the cup can be reused.

Repurposed Picture Frames

Grab that dusty frame sitting in storage and reimagine it as a functional decor item. With only a few materials, you can upgrade that frame into a tray for your table, an organizer for earrings, or a unique shelf for any room.

Fabric Scrap Keychains

If you have any leftover fabric lying around, think about turning those scraps into personalized keychains. All you need is fabric, a stabilizer (i.e. interfacing), and your imagination. Once you designed your key chain, attach a small loop of ribbon with the key ring to one of the sides.

Mason Jar Lid Mini Wreath

This can be a great way to reuse the hollow lids of any jars that have broken or are missing. Depending on your decor style, wrap the lid in your choice of ribbon, twine, or yarn and add any embellishments you have lying around.
